

Hi everyone and welcome to Hextol Happenings number 15!

This has been a great week because we've been able to welcome back our first volunteer since we locked down in March! The light at the end of the tunnel is now seeming much brighter.

We will be building on this over the next few weeks as we are able to offer more shifts in some of our services. Cherie will be contacting you all to explain this in more detail – please wait till you hear from her.

To make Hextol as safe as we can for you we have made some changes – there are pictures on the other page of a few of the things we're doing. You'll be given lots more information before you start again.

One of the good things to come out of the lockdown was this – Hextol Happenings. We hope you've enjoyed reading it as much as we've enjoyed putting it together. The feedback we've had has been so positive we've decided to keep it going after lockdown, but we won't be able to do it every week. So next week we will publish the last weekly version and we'd like to fill it with your memories (words or pictures) of the last 15 weeks, good and not so good. Things you've done, or learned, and what you might be changing as a result of what you've done. Please send things to us as soon as possible and we'll use as much as we can.

Making Hextol Safe

Here are some of the changes you will see when you come back to work.

Please wait at the front door before you come in.

We will take your temperature when you arrive at work.

There are notices on the rooms telling you who can use them.

There are lines along the corridor. This is to help us keep to social distancing.

We have cleared the reception area of its normal furniture.

We will be wearing these when you are at work. We will show you how to wear face coverings properly.

Some of you will be wearing new hi viz gear.
